MAY BE MADE TO PAY ON ALL BACK PERMITS

Collection From Plumbers Of Fees Due City Con sidered At Caucus

Those plumbers found negligent of paying the $5 due on every "job" since March of 1936, when George Riddell became plumbing inspector, may be required to make complete amends.

The action was proposed and tentatively endorsed in a caucus meeting of the City Council, Monday of this week. Absent was Councilman Henry Sundermann. Legal means of enforcing this action will be determined on advice of the city attorney.

Under the local law, plumbers are bound to pay a fee on every permit issued for installation of units or alterations. It is the duty of the plumbing inspector to make the collections. Research on the part of the Council and the City Clerk reveals that many plumbers have been remiss in paying the fees.

Present at the session were Frank Lindstrom, secretary of the Master Plumbers Association of the Peninsula, and William Logue, business agent of Plumbers Union No. 476 of San Mateo County.

The organizations they represent have protested against the installation of the plumbing systems as made in a local hospital and in a structure at Station and Moltke streets—jobs which were said to have been approved by Inspector Riddell.

Logue and Lindstrom declared that the two jobs do not meet the standard set by the plumbing ordinance of Daly City.

Another survey will be made two weeks from the time of the caucus meeting, the result of which will determine further action.

HEALTH EXPERT SPEAKS AT OUR HIGH SCHOOL

Enlightens Students Regarding Causes And Methods Of Cure For Tuberculosis

Miss Beatrice Woodward, traveling representative of the California Tuberculosis and Health Association, delivered an interesting and enlightening talk to the students of the Jefferson Union High School, Thursday of last week.

Miss Woodward said that tuberculosis is a disease that can be cured. The only way to get its germ is from someone who has it, and, she stated, tuberculosis is not hereditary.

The greatest known weapon for control of this disease is the skin test, because tuberculosis gives no outward sign of its existence. This test is not a serum or a vaccine, but merely a test to find out if tuberculosis germs have entered the body. The skin test is a colorless fluid made under government supervision.

In 1907 Christmas seals were first sold to combat tuberculosis, $3,000 being obtained in this way the first year, and the amount has increased year by year. The total amount acquired since the sale began is $83,000,000. We have surpassed all the countries in Europe in the sale of Christmas seals.

Miss Woodward stated that the money goes back to the people in a heatlh program for the prevention of tuberculosis.

The speaker was introduced by Miss Juanita Young, physical education instructor.

Expansion Of Villa Hospital Progresses

The new addition to the Villa Hospital at Werner and Vale streets will be completed shortly, according to Joseph Sarto, proprietor. The expansion will comprise 14,000 feet of floor space and is to contain 22 rooms.

Nothing but the most modern surgical and medical equipment—including the new respirator—will be used.

All cases in this hospital receive expert attention from a staff of specialists, says Sarto.

The spacious sun room for convalescents, in a building to itself, was finished last August.

FIVE DIE IN NAVY PLANE COLLISION; TWO BAIL OUT

Five persons were killed when two Navy planes collided at an altitude of 1,500 feet over the southern tip of Boeing Field, south of Seattle, Wednesday of this week. Two fliers in the smaller of the planes, which had an open cockpit, bailed out in parachutes and landed safely. The two ships locked together and crashed to earth, a heap of wreckage. The five killed in the larger plane, a Douglas amphibian, were identified as Lieutenant H. B. Twohy, of Spokane; Cadet Kenneth H. Rhuddy, of Seattle, former University of Washington track captain; Machinists' Mate M. McCroddan, of Seattle; Radio Operator R. E. Reagan, of Seattle; Cadet Kenneth F. Schmidt, of Springfield, Minn., and a graduate of the University of Minnesota. Pilot of the pursuit plane was Machinists' Mate J. D. Goodsell, of Seattle. His passenger was H. S. Bowman, second class seaman, of Alexandria, La. Goodsell and Bowman were saved by their perilous leaps. This photo shows Goodsell standing beside his collapsed parachute. Cloudy weather was blamed for the crash. Both ships were from the Sand Point Naval Air Station.

CHIEF OF POLICE THROWS PARTY ON GOBLIN NITE

Throws Aside Dignified Duties Of Officialdom To Make Merry With Friends

So often a chief of police grows stern and austere with the passing years. We think of these officials as always on duty in the necessary and often unpleasant job of law enforcement. All work and no play might make policemen dull boys and we are glad to learn that our own Chief of Police and Mrs. J. G. Reardon took time out to throw a party, Saturday evening of last week, in spite of all the ghost and goblins running at large.

The large new social hall in their home at 20 Rice street was appropreately decorated in Hallowe'en colors and a host of guests gathered for an evening of gaiety. The affair was climaxed by the serving of delicious refreshments by the hostess, who, in preparation of food, knows how to tempt appetites.

Those present, who did justice to the refreshments were a representation of our city council, Mayor and Mrs. Paul G. Selmi, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Fahey, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cavagnaro and Mr. Henry Sundermann. Also Messeurs and Mesdames A. Parmisano, E. Micco, L. Zerga, R. J. Ennis, L. F. Bennedetti, George Romiguiere, John Borja, George Feliatrault, Ross Meader, A. M. Harrison, R. Heckman, Hayden. Also Mr. Pete Benassini, Mrs. Lu Green, Mrs. Inez Luccetti, Mr. Ricco Benedetti, Mrs. M. Rancatore, Mr. F. Heckman, Mr. F. Greco, Miss Rita Benassini, Miss Inez Benassini, Mr. Gene Green, Mr. Louis Parmisano, Mr. Roy Reardon, Miss Florence Rancatore, Mr. Sam Parmisano, Miss Marie Reardon and Miss Claire Filiatrault.

NIGHT DRIVING

Are you driving to San Francisco tonight? If so, remember that night driving is six times as hazardous as daytime driving.

About 25 per cent of highway traffic is at night, yet 60 per cent of the accidents occur after dark. Whatever hazards lie beyond the range of your headlights, are practically beyond your control. If this is important to you, reduce your speed by ten miles an hour, be more alert in your driving and use greater caution in meeting the greatly increased risks of night driving.—San Mateo County Traffic Safety Commission.

FALL OPENING TO SEE FAMOUS THOROUGHBREDS

Runners From All Parts To Compete In Comprehensive Stakes Program At Tanforan Course

Ushered in on a wave of national enthusiasm for racing, Tanforan—California's pioneer race course—throws open its gates Tuesday, November 16, for the annual fall meeting of twenty-five days.

Starting with the $2000 added Tanforan Opening Day Handicap and continuing through the stakes program, which embraces eleven featured climaxed by the closing $10,000 San Francisco Handicap on Saturday, December 18, a parade of thoroughbred champions will compete for the rich prizes.

Undoubtedly the strongest array of thoroughbred talent ever assembled in northern California will answer the bugle call at Tanforan. In addition to the horses which are already campaigning on the coast at this time, shipments of eastern runners are arriving constantly at the San Bruno plant.

Racegoers will find Tanforan in spick and span shape for the opening. A neat wire fence has replaced the wooden structure fronting the El Camino Real highway, additional parking space has been added and the infield decorated.

Something new in the way of stable accommodations will house the motion picture colony horses this season. J. W. Marchbank, directing owner of Tanforan, confronted with an increased number of stable applications from film stars, neatly solved the problem by building a new stable area—Hollywood at Tanforan. He purchased ground adjacent to the course, ordered two new and modern cottage barns built and has room for more to be erected should the demand arise in future.

Judge Floyd L. McKinney will again head the official family as presiding steward.

Judge Julius G. Reeder, racing secretary and handicapper, will also again serve in the dual role of general manager. He is now on the ground attending to details preliminary to the opening. Judge Reeder made a tour of eastern tracks in the interest of California racing and has arranged for many shipments of clever horses, a number of which are already campaigning at this time.

SANCTIONS NEW CAMPAIGN FOR POST OFFICE

Merchants Association Gesture May Be Backed By City Council at Its Next Session.

A new move to institute an independent post office in Daly City was favored by the Merchants Association in a meeting, Wednesday evening of this week.

When Ernest W. Lewis, local resident, first proposed the action to the City Council in its last caucus session, he was told by the trustees that they would indorse the project if they were backed by the Merchants Association.

Lewis informed members of the association that a second class post office here would insure business men of three mail deliveries a day, afford the facility of cashing money orders locally, establish another business here, and make for more employment and create an opportunity for box rental.

He concluded his argument with the statement that an independent office would redound to the common good, insuring residents of quick service and courteous treatment at all times.

A. Milo, chairman of the festival committee for the Merchants Association, reported that the organization had donated two tall trophies to the I. C. F. Branch 49. The trophies were included in the list of prizes bestowed on winners in the drill team and drum corps contest on the last day of the fiesta.

NEW YORK BANDS GIVE BIG INTEREST TO RACES

By J. W. MARCHBANK

When the aptly named Orderly earned brackets at Empire City the other day his owner and trainer, Mile Shields, lost little time in completing the preparations under way for some time for the long journey from the Atlantic side of the continent to the Pacific. The well known horseman seldom misses a meeting at Tanforan and his arrival about two weeks in advance of the fall session at the San Bruno track is in accordance with his custom. His carload came in early this week.

Orderly is a chestnut two year old by the Pennant sire, Color Sergeant. It can be guessed he was bred from Whitney blood lines. Pennant, of course, comes down from Domino through Peter Pan and Commande. That the Domino strain, of which my King Heather is a typical representative, is durable is shown by the kind of colts Pennant, although well along in the twenties, is sending to the races. The Chief and Dauber, two of his sons, are considered as first flight youngsters.

The shipment of the Shields string to Tanforan is one of many from the "big time." Each fall important establishments come West for the doings at the home course. The coming of the gallopers adds perceptibly to the interest in the "heats" out on the mile oval. Sometimes the invaders win first time out, while at others they bow to animals raced all summer on the Coast. When thoroughly acclimated the Easterners usually pull down their share of purses.

The opening of the twenty-five day meeting at the historic plant is close at hand. The start comes Tuesday, November 16. Getaway will be on Saturday, December 18. There will be racing on each week day for five weeks, with the exception of Mondays.

Looking at the prospects of the period of sport from the point of view of the caliber of the horses, the high skill of the members of the jockey brigade, and the attractiveness of the stakes offerings and the over-night events, the most successful session in a long time can be confidently predicted.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Dorn of Risel street, accompanied by Mrs. Evelyn Miles and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Chapman of San Leandro, motored to Madera over the week end, where they attended the "Old Timers Celebration."

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Cullum of North Park avenue entertained at a Hallowe'en party, Saturday evening of last week. Dancing and games were enjoyed, after which refreshments were served.

Mrs. A. Roderigues and little daughter of Oliver street came home from a San Francisco Hospital, Friday of last week.

A marriage license was issued in San Mateo County, this week, to Wilbur L. Wilson, 30, 628 Montgomery street, San Francisco, and Marjorie P. Slockton, 32, of Daly City.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Davis of Brunswick street were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Abell at a San Francisco cafe, Saturday evening of last week. The occasion was Mrs. Abell's (the former Dee Moe) twenty-first birthday. Mrs. Abell resided in Daly City prior to her marriage.

A marriage license was filed in San Francisco, Saturday of last week, by Brunetta Martini, 21, of Colma, and Woodrow Howett, 21, of San Francisco.

As pork prices rise, the old costly method of spraying the sandwich with ham may have to be abandoned. Surely there must be ways of photographing it on the bun.

Attendants At Costume Party "Shot" For Films To Be Displayed At Future Date

At the joint meeting of the afternoon and evening patrols of the Girl Scouts of Troop No. 2, to be held Saturday evening, the members will be favored with a special speaker. CLOSE COURSE OF LECTURES FOR ITS MEMBERS

Seventeenth District Of Parent Teachers Ends Consumer Education Program

The seven weeks course in consumer education offered by the Seventeenth District, California Congress of Parents and Teachers, Inc., to its members and those interested, was brought to a close, Tuesday of this week, at the San Mateo Junior College, through a panel discussion summarizing the lectures previously given.

Mrs. Shirley Douglas, graduate dietitian of the University of California, spoke on home management, the problem of the individual homemaker. Referring to guides and sources for securing information regarding the subject, she gave a few rules whereby the homemaker can provide better living conditions for her family for less money; first, by planned spending, that is having a market list, a budget worked out by the entire family and keeping accounts; second, by using principles of diet in relation to the family and considering money allowed for foods; third, through better buymanship, having planned shopping hours and knowing where, what and how to buy. Thus by familiarizing oneself with these rules, home management can be much easier with more to spend, more to save, more time for oneself, better living for the family and the satisfaction of knowing that the job is well done.

Citing the fact that Seventeenth District is a pioneer in this consumer educaton movement, Mrs. Elmer L. Miller, president, expressed her gratitude to the approximately 150 in attendance and on behalf of Seventeenth District she thanked the speakers and those responsible for the success of such a course.

Good Work Of Red Cross In Daly City

The San Mateo County Chapter, American Red Cross, paid the salary of a doctor for a "Well Baby Clinic" in Daly City as a part of its activities over the 1936-37 period.

As a result 317 examinations were made of Daly City babies to insure their good health.

Can this community very well forget that service now, as the San Mateo County Chapter, American Red Cross, launches its annual roll call for new members and contributions on November 11, Armistice Day?

"Not very well!" is the enthusiastic answer from grateful Daly City citizens, who have pledged their support of the Red Cross Chapter as it seeks to obtain 6500 new memberships and additional contributions by Thanksgiving Day.

The Daly City roll call chairman has organized a group of representative citizens into Red Cross workers who will start canvassing the city with an eye to making Daly City a "100 per cent Red Cross community."

NEW PAVEMENT DISCOVERED TO BE SKID PROOF

Educator At Minnesota University Has Developed New Type Of Safety Tread Highway

It is believed by Dr. E. W. Davis of the University of Minnesota that he has discovered a cure for the greatest hazards of our highways—skidding.

The old car he has mounted in his laboratory gets an almost daily drubbing in the experiments centered around a cast iron pavement, non-skid, non-glare, with a corrugated surface similar to the tread on an automobile tire.

This proposal of the Minnesota scientist blends into the business of trying to find a greater market for that state's vast stores of low grade iron ore.

Dr. Davis said: "This new pavement would speed up traffic on the highways and at the same time assure almost complete car control. The design of the cast iron blocks, with their corrugated surface, provides a greater amount of grip and cuts down considerably on reflection and glare."

The doctor believes iron pavement would last 50 to 100 years. He is confident that when the two common types of skidding can be controlled, forward skidding and side skidding, a pavement will be in use that can be driven on as fast in rainy weather as in dry.

PROJECT STARS SOON TO STAGE FAMOUS PLAY

Great Laugh Hit Now Showing To See Its Final Performances During Coming Week

Next week will be the final week of the Federal Theater Project's staging of Julian Thompson's ten-strike laugh hit, "The Warrior's Husband," at the Alcazar Theater.

On November 17 the Theater Project opens with "Justice," by John Galsworthy. Galsworthy is the fourth of a group of world famous living playwrights who have released their work for production by the government players. Inasmuch as "Justice" was the piece that was largely responsible for recognition of Galsworthy as a great playwright, and at the same time one of the best plays ever done by him, much interest is being expressed by local theater goers in its production.

"Justice" will have a cast of ace actors, among whom are Will Vedder, Rupert Drumm, Leon Forbes, Maurice Hugo, Daniel Pennell, J. Raymond Northcutt, Max West, Robert Clarke, David Cole, Willis West, Crawford Perks, Walter Farnsworth, Edward Ferris, Edward Regan and others. There are twenty-four male characters and one feminine, the latter being played by Alice Hult.

"MEN AT WORK!" PORTENDS PROGRESS

When farm, field, and factory hoist aloft the banner reading, "Men at Work!" it's a welcome weather sign.

Going through the valley of the "great depression," America learned that legions of jobless men tramping the streets, hitting the dole, standing in breadlines, tell a mute story of ailing industries, idle wheels, and stores with empty aisles.

Looking today, not at the exchange quotations, but at the number of men who are carrying a fuller dinner pail, a heartening picture emerges. There are a few dark spots in employment like the railroads, but that is due only to the fact that they, unlike other industries, have not been able to meet increasing costs of operation by upping rates. Once such permission is granted by the government, they will doubtless re-establish themselves as a prime factor in flouting the ghost of unemployment.

At present there's a paradox in the railway labor picture. Between the middle of August and the middle of September, rails were forced to lay off 30,000 workers in order to meet wage increases granted to the rail unions. Pending rate increases which may put employment nearer normalcy, railroads must rest content with having put 70,000 new men to work since last year—which is no small record!

Though employment decreases in construction climbed as high as 118,000 in August, total unemployment for that month shows the country is steadily beating back the tides of depression. A conservative estimate places the number of jobless in August at 6,285,000, less by 1,436,000 than in August a year ago.

On the whole, there seems good reason for saying banners flying the welcome ensign, "Men at Work!" are on the increase!

SIGNIFICANCE OF ARMISTICE DAY

A song of joy swept round the world nineteen years ago on November 11.

Soldiers danced jigs of wild delight in the trenches, and millions of mothers wept for sheer gladness—the long torment of fear ended at last.

The world had never seen anything like the tumult and the cheering which stormed the heavens when word came the world's greatest and most terrible war was over. That war killed 126,000 American doughboys, and wounded and gassed nearly twice that number. It cost the world 400 billion dollars, and no nation is yet through paying the costs of that holocaust.

Yet today, civil and international wars again rage. Tragic as they are, they give a special meaning to America's celebration of Armistice Day. They make plain that war does not end war, that peace founded on violence breeds further violence, that what is achieved by force will be overthrown by force!

Truly, the American doughboys who gave their lives on Europe's battlefields will not have died in vain so long as we remember that lesson!

On this Armistice Day America salutes Peace and the men who fought to achieve it, strong in her determination not to break trust with those who died believing they fought a war to end all war!

ROOSEVELT DISCIPLE GIRDS ON HIS ARMOR

By J. W. MARCHBANK
Pioneer in Frontier Mining Work

An intellectual giant is all set to battle with the "financial termites." A year ago William O. Douglas, the new chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, coined the expressive phrase in describing dishonest people on Wall street. He was not then in a position to do anything about making "the gang" toe the mark. Now it is different. By virtue of his appointment to the important post on SEC he can do plenty.

Some critics are of the opinion Douglas can make little progress. Joseph Kennedy, the first chairman, was known and trusted by the "Street." James Landis, the next chairman, at first seemed to frighten the financiers to a certain extent, but petered out.

It is well known Wall street fought the selection of Douglas, a Westerner, as chairman with all its might. It has definite fears he is not "safe." Everyone knows what reactionaries mean by safe. If you are "safe" you seldom, if ever, do anything to protect the public in its encounters with the money kings of the country.

* * *

When it comes to attempting to control wealth, Chairman Douglas goes along with Justice Louis Brandeis of the United States Supreme Court. There are two schools of thought on dealing with the power of finance over industry, which is an admitted fact. One school maintains financial power is more easy to control if it is decentralized. That's the Brandeis-Douglas school. There is another that holds if such power is concentrated in a few hands it is more subject to control by the federal government.

The SEC chairman has three bills he will try to push through at the coming session of Congress. The Barkley bill regulates the practices of commercial banks acting as trustees for securities under trust indentures, the Chandler bill seeks to tighten the provisions of the Bankruptcy Act, and the Lea bill provides for a revision of the Securities Act in regard to the soliciting of proxies in reorganizations.

Douglas aims at a complete rehabilitation of the financial structure of the country. A very ambitious design, I must say, and one the mere mention of which gives the shivers to Wall street.

* * *

The reconstructionist calls himself a conservative and in the last analysis probably he could be put in that category. He holds the opinion that capitalism as a theory is all right, but that in practice there are too many unscrupulous departures from that theory. All he asks for is an abandonment of procedures not ethical from any point of view.

It appears that the chairman's principal demand, honesty on the Stock Exchange, cannot be fought inasmuch as publicly the so-called big fellows must agree such a thing is highly desirable.

A publicist, who recently devoted quite a bit of study to the plans of Douglas, says the chairman seeks the simple honesty by which customers' men will not try to sell clients the stock in which their own firms have interests, by which commercial banks acting as trustees will not feather their own nests in the process, by which lawyers and bankers will not first wreck a corporation to their own advantage and then reorganize it so as to perpetuate their control.

Huskies See Win Over California

Recent arrival of Washington's Huskies in the San Francisco Bay area three days before their contest with the California Bears proved to Bear supporters that the northern boys have their hearts set on handing the Berkeley team its first 1937 defeat. Jimmy Phelan, Washington coach, brought his squad south early so that the boys could get used to weather conditions. "I think we can beat the Bears," he said uncertainly.

STILL FRONTIER CALIFORNIA WITH ONE RESPECT

State Is Yet In Infancy Regarding Complete Extermination Of Predatory Animals

In one respect, at least, California—despite its thriving industries, its great cities and its national leadership in progressive agriculture—is still a frontier state, fighting the age-old battle of the frontier for survival.

Howling defiance at the march of civilization, the coyote still stalks his prey in more than two-thirds of the counties of the commonwealth.

And if you happen to be a reader of the California Wool Grower, official publication of the California Wool Growers Association, such headlines as "Depredations of Coyotes May Force Sheepmen Out of Business" are more or less commonplace.

The battle between the livestock men and the prairie wolf is a feud which will doubtless continue until the last coyote's pelt has been hung out to dry, but it is a costly war—still far from ended.

During the 1936-1937 fiscal year, which ended July 1, predatory animal forces in California expended $99,657.55 in the unending war of extermination against coyotes, bobcats and other predators. Of this amount the federal government contributed $29,158.47; the state paid $21,304.66, and the various counties and wool growers $49,194.42. This total, of course, does not include the sums paid in bounties by the various counties or the cost of hunters and trappers employed by individual farmers.

An active phase of the predatory control work is the contest carried on each year by the Associated Sportsmen of California, which now has twenty-one clubs killing predators, compared with nine a year ago. During the first six months of 1937 these clubs have killed six mountain lions, 102 bobcats and 124 coyotes.

To city residents it may be little short of amazing that more than $150,000 per year, counting the expenditures of all agencies, is being spent in California to exterminate predatory animals which are generally associated with primitive days and the wide open spaces. But the expenditure is only a fraction of the losses which otherwise would result. California is still fighting the old fight of the frontier—and doing a vigorous, effective work in protecting its stockmen from the depredations of wild animals. But losses are still heavy and the fight must be intensified before it is won.

OBSERVATION OF VARIOUS THINGS IN OUR CAPITAL

A Review Of What P. W. A. Has Accomplished During Its Existence In Benefits Derived

(By Hart Goodrich)

PWA goes out of existence in June, 1939, by executive order. While the Public Works Admniistration is in the process of folding its tents, let us review some of the achievements of PWA since its birthday in June of 1933.

In all but three counties of approximately 7000, that go to make up the states in the Union, PWA leaves a monument to itself. It has had a hand in the financing of 70 percent of all school buildings erected in the last four years, in the financing of 62 percent of the hospitals built in that time, and in the financing of 64 percent of the water works constructed in the last four years.

It inaugurated the first federal slum and low-rent housing program in America. PWA has set new standards of work and material in civic and state projects through its inspection division.

PWA financing has created approximately 1,452,627,850 man-hours of labor at the site of construction, not to mention the creation of 3,631,569,625 man-hours "behind the lines" in the industries such as lumbering, steel manufacturing, cement and brick manufacturing, as well as the transportation lines handling these products.

The toughest problem tackled by PWA was the rehabilitation of our school system. During the recent so-called depression school construction was practically at a standstill; yet the National Education Association has pointed out that, for example, in 90 cities having 30,000 or more inhabitants additional building facilities for 2700 pupils were needed to replace condemned and temporary school structures and to provide full-time accomodations for all pupils. Then there were some 16,000 consolidated schools needed for 5,000,000 rural pupils who were at the time attending school in poorly equipped buildings.

Loans and grants have been made by PWA for more than 3700 school projects. Assistance has been given in the building of more than 2000 auditoriums, 1720 gymnasiums, 884 libraries and 1000 school shops and cafeterias.

Do you think PWA got its "money's worth" for the people? I say, emphatically, "Yes!"

Heney, Famed Foe Of Graft, Dies

Francis J. Heney

Francis Joseph Heney, 74, one of the West's most colorful legal figures, who passed away in his home in Santa Monica, Cal., where he served his last years as a superior judge. Heney, who was once attorney general of Arizona and who later was government prosecutor in the famed Oregon land fraud case, won national fame as prosecutor in San Francisco's graft probe of 1906. He charged that the city, after the fire and quake, was rife with graft. He sent Mayor Eugene Schmitz and Abe Ruef to jail, Schmitz being released a few months later. During the case, Heney was shot by a juror and the prosecutor's place was taken by Hiram W. Johnson, now U. S. senator and erstwhile candidate for nomination as President of the United States in 1920.

Comprehensive and interesting displays from actual classroom activities will be exhibited in halls and classrooms in the various schools.

To further focus the attention of the parents and general public of the community on the work done in the school special invitations will be sent out by the individual schools, announcing its particular "School Open House Day."

Understanding Of Art Is Improving

National Art Week is the week set aside all over the United States for the purpose of recognizing the fine arts. Thus, the Woodrow Wilson Elementary School, under the direction of Mrs. Corral, stimulated its young citizens to further enjoy the cultural things of life by meticulously preparing an exhibit of the various types of art work and appreciation given in the school. On Wednesday morning a program for an outdoor assembly of the school was prepared by the art supervisor, for the purpose of establishing the fact as quoted by the well known art critic, Pedro Lemos, that "no life education is complete without a just proportion of art, and that no artist is fully equipped unless his hands can add art not only to marble, paper or canvas, but to any material or surface toward bettering his home needs or solving civic problems." Lemos further states: "Parents no longer need to exclaim, 'I do not want my son to be an artist' or to think that poverty and art go together. The artist today who fundamentally secures the proper art training is in demand and can top the ladder of success in many avenues of American art and industry."

The student chairman for the day was Eldred Hahn, who gave a short talk on the purpose of National Art Week and introduced the speakers. Jean Hanselman read a paper on the "Importance of Art and Our American Civilization," which was followed by a short talk and showing of the reproductions of three famous paintings, namely, the American, Whistler's "Mother," the Italian, Leonardo DaVinci's "The Last Supper," and the French, Millet's "The Angelus." These three pictures were shown and discussed by Edward Bittencourt, Mary Picchi and Ruth Larson. The program closed with a short talk by James Parker on "The possibilities for art appreciation in school, community, and nearness to San Francisco."

A WONDERFUL SLOGAN

PENINSULA GATEWAY

A GOOD PLACE TO LIVE!

PUBLIC SCHOOL OFFERS MANY OPPORTUNITIES

Educational Scope Is Broadening In All Parts Of America

Preparing children for citizenship is probably the most important function of the school. To quote from "Our Public Schools" edited by the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, "Citizenship requires more than a formal study of civics or a knowledge of our country's wars and political history. It requires the habit of social thinking. Such a habit has to be developed through social living—through co-operative work and play and through seeing the tie-up between one's self and one's neighbors."

The public school of today certainly offers many opportunities for the development of social thinking, and every single one of these opportunities, we believe, should be utilized to the fullest extent. Children should be eager and ready to participate in all sorts of school and community enterprises. In this way, children derive the keen satisfaction that comes from mutual helpfulness. With the newer viewpoint in education, principal and teacher are ever guiding, helping and directing from their wider experiences, yet the children themselves are actually participating in the running of their classroom. In fact, it is THEIR school.

RESPONSIBILE FOR SCHOOL SUCCESS

Children and teachers both bear the responsibility for the success of the school. Committees of children, appointed from each of the several rooms of the school, plan with the teacher and principal as to how the school building and the playground may be made happier places in which to live and work. All sorts of duties may be expected of the children that, again, tend toward the mutual helpfulness of all. Some of the children's responsibilities fall under the following heads:

To look after and protect the rights of the younger children in the school building and on the playground.

To keep the yard and grounds neat and tidy.

To help in carrying out traffic rules in the building and upon the street near the building.

To pick up and take care of the playground equipment.

To help in the making of and carrying out of rules for the classroom and playground.

To help in the comfort and entertainment of visitors.

To record the room temperature.

To take charge of the distribution of the library books.

To help in the instructing of some of the children who may need special help.

To keep the buildings and sidewalks free from marks.

Hold Whist Party

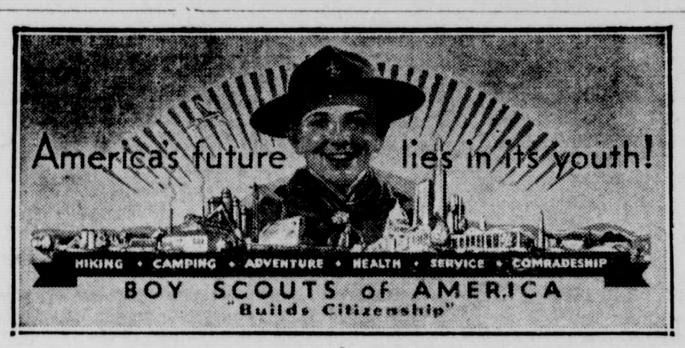
The Community Welafre Association met in the Theater Social Hall, last week. After a short business session, a whist party was held and a goodly crowd was on hand to vie for the many beautiful prizes.

President Dolan presided at the business meeting and invites all civic minded people to become members of this active organization.

Every time something goes wrong in Europe we are reminded of the foresight of Christopher Columbus. He surely discovered America in the right place.

Spokane Woman Air Traffic Manager

Proof that beauty and brains are frequently found together, is furnished by Margaret Chandler of Spokane, Wash., who at 24 is the first woman to be named manager of traffic for an important northwestern air line. She is pictured giving orders over the telephone.



Boys Enjoy Party Tendered By Girls

Troop No. 141 meets every Thursday evening at Grace Church of the Nazarene, Vista and Santa Barbara streets.

Every active member of our troop and several candidates were present at the Hallowe'en party tendered us by Girl Scout Troop No. 2. The event was an enjoyable one and was a huge success from every angle. Many original costumes were worn by the merry makers. One of our Scouts, Frank Pate, represented Daniel Boone and did a good job of it. Frank is to play the role of this particular pioneer in the coming movie production, "The Tenderfoot," and for this reason attracted a great deal of attention. Scout Dickie King ran a close second as an Indian maiden.

Motion pictures were made of everyone present and will be shown at future gatherings of our groups. A scene was made of a movie play which our troop is now completing.

In the efficiency contest, Scout Glenn Goode again led the troop as Honor Scout of the month with a total of 281 points. Other Scouts are gradually creeping up on Glenn and it looks as if the contest is going to be a hot one during this present month.

The Indian Patrol had a successful meeting at the home of Scout Buddy Pzrbarowski on Monday evening. Every active Scout was present and in uniform. Considerable work was accomplished on the costumes for the coming pioneer and Indian movie. The patrol flag is nearing completion, and will probably be presented at the troop meeting this coming Thursday. Some of the Indians have "adopted" an aged widow lady and see to the running of errands and other good turns for her.

* * *

We expect our Scoutmaster, Mr. John Young, who is away on vacation, back for this week's meeting. However, in the event he is not, the meeting will be in charge of Committeemen Fox and Lewis. Committeemen Joseph Straughan is attending the Baden-Powell school of Scouting at the Everett Junior High School all of this week.

Our troop expects to send one or more representatives to the Green Bar Conference of Patrol Leaders to be held at Camp Royaneh the latter part of this month.

A troop Court of Honor and Tenderfoot Investure service is scheduled for the evening of November 18. We expect to make quite a showing of advancement in several lines.

CUB PACK NO. 141

Our pack is due to re-register during this month. Interest is being revived in Den Meetings and we expect a goodly number out to our regular monthly pack meeting which falls on Friday evening, November 12.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Adam and Fallen Mann." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "For every one that doeth evil hateth the light, neither cometh to the light, lest his deeds should be reproved. But he that doeth truth cometh to the light, that his deeds may be made manifest, that they are wrought in God" (John 3: 20, 21).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "When we wake to the truth of being, all disease, pain, weakness, weariness, sorrow, sin, death, will be unknown, and the mortal dream will forever cease" (p. 218).

"Are you yawning?"

"No, I'm giving a silent Indian war-whoop."—Grit.

MINING NOTES OF VARIOUS SECTIONS

Frank E. Woodside, manager of the British Columbia Chamber of Mines, advises that in order to assist in educating the younger generation in mining and in an endeavor to further stimulate public interest in the industry, the Chamber of Mines has recently distributed a number of mineral collections to important points, not only in this province, but other parts of the world.

A large collection of British Columbia ores was donated to the Englewood High School, West Vancouver, for the use of all students, as were similar exhibits given to the Templeton Junior High School, Vancouver, and Tynehead School at Surrey.

Another collection was presented to Eric North of Wells, B. C., who is organizing a branch Chamber of Mines, and one to the Exhibits Branch, C. P. Railway, for display in different parts of Canada.

Advice from Trail states that O. B. Wiser, metallurgist and consultant for the Howe Sound Company, visiting the Tadanac plant of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co., recognized the zinc concentrate produced by his company in Mexico. He found it had been sent from Europe by the purchaser to the Consolidated plant for flash roasting tests.

* * *

John D. Galloway, managing-director of the Reward Mining Co., Ltd., operating in several districts in British Columbia and elsewhere, advises that he has recently examined the company's mining operations in the Bridge River area and at Porcher Island.

Reward acquired an option early in 1936 to a 75 per cent interest in 54 claims lying northeast and east of the Minto mine, known as the Dauntless Group. At the time, this was only potentially valuable ground, but by surface prospecting work an important vein has been exposed.

* * *

The Pend Oreille Mines and Metals Company, operating mineral properties in the northern section of the state of Washington near the border, expect to be handling at least 700 tons of ore daily by next April. The power project will be financed by an issue of bonds to the sum of $125,000, maturing in five years, to be amortized by setting aside sinking fund, by payments about equal to what has been paid for power each year in the past.

The Euphrates mine, situated nine miles south of Nelson, B. C., is being operated by G. L. Covington of Superior, Montana. Chester A. Sheppard of Portland, Ore., is president of the company. Reports of the government resident engineer give shipments from the property as eleven tons in 1928, one ton in 1929, 47 tons in 1931, 59 tons in 1934 and 24 tons in 1935.

Glenn S. Francis of E. J. Gibson Co., Ltd., has received a personal letter stating that at the annual meeting all officers and directors were re-elected and giving particulars of recent development work.

The total amount expended in development and construction since June 1, is given as $25,819.38.

* * *

Ian C. Sanderson, managing director of Consolidated Gold Alluvials of British Columbia, Ltd., states that D. Campbell Mackenzie, general manager at Wingdam, B. C., reports that at the Melvin mine the final phase of preliminary development has now been reached.

* * *

Durange Gold Mines, Ltd., announces through Secretary Treasurer W. A. Sutton, that Dentonia Mines, Ltd., has exercised its option to purchase 1,650,000 shares of the capital stock of the Durango Company, at ten cents a share, to net the company $165,000.

When we read a wise maxim, we usually think how aptly it applies to someone else . . . never to ourselves.

Spring Valley Market Dolls Up–In And Out

Although not located on the principal business street of this vicinity, it is only a short distance to 198 Los Banos avenue, the home of the Spring Valley Market.

The whole interior of this place of business spells "Progress." The shelves have been newly arranged, new fixtures have been installed and the whole inside looks shiny in its new coat of paint. The entire store is lighter and more spacious than before, regardless of the fact that more stock is being carried.

The meat depratment has been modernized with a new and larger counter. A capacious frigidaire was reecntly installed. All these improvements not only will prove beneficial to the proprietor, Julius Tweesten, but to every patron of the market, as well.

Remember, folks, we all like to be appreciated. With that thought in mind call on this good neighbor and speak your word of commendation, for, after all, it is each individual improvement that does its share in the making of a better and ever developing Daly City.

Jefferson Defeated By San Mateo High

The Jefferson turf was the scene of a great battle between the Jefferson Indians and the San Mateo Wild Cats, Friday of last week.

The Indians took the cellar position from San Mateo when they ended up on the tail end of a 12-6 score.

Throughout the entire game "old man jink" kept after the Indians. A fumble deep in their own territory scored the first San Mateo goal.

A 200 pound line definitely hindered line plunges, driving the Indians to their aerial attack. A pass from Simpson to Clark, who ran a beautiful 30 yards to a goal, tied a knot in a 6-6 score.

The second San Mateo score was the result of a blocked kick deep in Jefferson territory.

For the remainder of the game the Indians tried hard to score, but failed. Compagno, the Jefferson half back, ran the ball to the San Mateo 10 yard line, but the gun ended the Indian chances for victory.

During the half, a short game was staged between teams of the Crocker and Woodrow Wilson schools.

This exhibition of talented young artists was under the supervision of Mrs. Janice Robison, dramatics coach of Burlingame Union High.
